NO. 275.

MEDICINAL.

STRENGTH

to vigorously push a business, strength to study a profession, strength to regulate a household, strength to do a day's labor without physical pain. All this represents what is wanted, in the often heard expression, "Oh! I wish I had the strength!" If you are broken down, have not energy, or feel as if life was hardly worth living, you can be relieved and restored to robust health and strength by taking BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, which is a true tonic—a medicine universally recommended for all wasting diseases.

For N. Fremont St., Baltimore.

During the war I was injured in the stomach by a piece of a shell, and have suffered from it ever since. About four years ago it brought on paralysis, which kept me in bed six months, and the best doctors in the city said I could not live. I suffered fearfully from indigestion, and for over two years could not eat solid food and for a large portion of the time was unable to retain even liquid nourishment. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters and now after taking two bottles I am able to get up and go around and am rapidly improving.

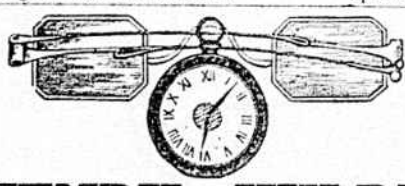

G. DECKER.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is a complete and sure remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Weakness and all diseases requiring a true, reliable, non-alcoholic tonic. It enriches the blood, gives new life to the muscles and tone to the nerves.

JEWELERS.

Woodlawn Agricultural Society.

[Reported for the Alexandria Gazette.]
The November meeting was held on the 25th instant at the house of A. W. Harrison, President Roberts in the chair, and N. W. Pierson, Secretary.

The host brought in some turnips of the cow-horn variety that he recommended as profitable to raise for stock as well as the table; also some ensilage in good condition made from corn grown in the hills with large roasting ears when hopped up.

The subject for consideration being "Dairy Interest," C. Lukens gave a short sketch of the peculiar management of the Swiss dairymen in contrast with our own. The custom there is to keep their cows closely confined in plastered stables winter and summer, keeping the temperature at 60 to 70 degrees. Feeding nothing but cut grass in the summer, they would make more butter on an average than we could make by pasturing and feeding ground feed, and that would support one cow to an acre the year round. The reason of this was thought by some to be that their land was richer than ours, containing that the richer the land the more nutrition in the same amount of produce. This theory was disputed by others.

Mr. Charles S. Taylor being called upon to state what he knew about the dairy business in his travels through that country he observed that the stables for cows were generally under the dwellings, and that all the labor in fields and stables was done by the women, the men doing military duty and mechanical work.

C. Lukens gave a brief statement of his management of the dairy. In summer his cows were pastured and each cow fed one quart of corn or cotton seed meal mixed with green corn. In winter two feeds a day of ground feed and all the clover hay they can eat. Considerable cotton seed meal about equal to corn meal for cows. After milking, sets the milk in tin vessels 17 inches deep in spring water, at a temperature of 52 to 55 degrees; churns once a week; has some Alderney cows that he has made from their milk 12 lbs. of butter in a week.

John Ballenger uses a Cooley creamer in which he sets the milk, submerged in ice water or cold well water, when all the cream rises in 12 hours; could see no difference in amount of cream when it remained in 24 or 48 hours. Several of his cows had been troubled with hoven from eating too much green clover; had to kill one cow in consequence of this; feeds but little ground feed; thinks corn fodder and nubbins a good feed for milk production.

D. P. Smith made 7 lbs. of butter in a week from the milk of an Alderney cow two years old, and 11 lbs. of butter in a week when she was four years old.

V. Baker makes 16 lbs of butter a week from three cows of ordinary stock.

William Hunter depended upon grass alone in summer for his cows. When he was in the milk business he could make no money in selling milk at 12 cents per gallon. Now he feeds ground feed to his cows at more profit.

S. P. P. said that the feed given cows affected the quality of the milk in a surprising degree. He formerly fed large quantities of brewers' grains and obtained a poor quality of milk. He now feeds corn cotton seed meal and bran, with a decidedly improved product in milk and butter, as his customers were not slow to find out.

The critics reported the farm of our host containing 350 acres, admirably located in a valley, every part of which was overlooked from the porch of the dwelling on the hillside. The dairy business being the leading industry, "the work done and improvements made shows the owner to have been fully employed in attending to the culture, and looking after the needs and requirement of a farm of this size."

The next meeting of the club will be held at John Ballenger's Dec., 23rd.

The critical committee are Wm. Hunter, Jr., C. Lukens and E. E. Mason.

VENNER'S PREDICTIONS FOR DECEMBER. Generally colder weather up to about third. Very little snow in northern sections, where the weather will have been cold and dry. Between tenth and fifteenth a change to colder and stormy weather, with snowfalls and drifts probably in Canada and western sections of the United States and maritime provinces. Possibly a "cold dip" about the fifteenth and sixteenth in the Northwest and Canada generally. Up to the twentieth low temperature will probably continue in most sections, the cold extending far to the West and South. Milder weather between 20th and 25th. A rainy Christmas in many sections, and nearly everywhere mild. Moderate weather is likely to continue during the remainder of the month, bringing in a mild New Year. This December is likely to be somewhat remarkable, and perhaps exceptional.
